

above: after you put in a start and destination point you can see the little camera beside some of the street names. Just click that and it will give you the split screen shown.

You can see which streets and areas exactly are photographed when you pick up the little yellow guy. You can see Canada only has some of the major centers done but almost every single street in the US is done.

